VS

Sami Amin Al-Arian

Case No. 8:03-CR-77-T-30-TBM

Defendant Sami Amin Al-Arian's Pro Se
Motion for Permission to Exceed the Motion
Page Limit

The defendant, Sami Amin Al-Arian, in pro se was unable to adequately respond to the Government's motion to deny his earlier motion of July 25, 2003, within the twenty-page limit of local rule 3.01(c).

The length of the defendant's motion, including the Memorandum of Law was necessary to satisfy the defendant's right of due process for a proper determination of the issues at hand.

The defendant's motion is 45 pages since it's also handwritten. If the motion was typed the number of pages would definitely decrease.

Therefore, the defendant requests this Honorable Court to permit the defendant to exceed the twenty-page limit in his motion to respond in order to fully argue the issues presented by the government in its motion to deny relief.23

Respectfully Submitted
