70 YEARS LATER: REVISITING THE LEGACY OF BROWN V. BOARD OF EDUCATION IN JACKSONVILLE

May 17, 2024, marks the 70th anniversary of the landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision in Brown v. Board of Education where the Court held “in the field of public education the doctrine of ‘separate but equal’ has no place.” Join us as we commemorate this historic decision and discuss its legacy in Jacksonville, Florida. The Honorable Gerald B. Tjoflat, Senior United States Circuit Judge, will speak with us about the desegregation plan, opinions, and orders issued in Jacksonville post Brown. Our discussion will be moderated by the Honorable Brian J. Davis, Senior United States District Judge, and will include commentary by author, historian, and urban planner Ennis Davis.

Attendees will receive 1.5 hours of Florida Bar CLE credit.

All members of the legal community are invited at no cost.

Lunch will be provided thanks to the lawyers and judges of the Middle District of Florida through the Middle District of Florida’s Bench Bar Fund.
